Indian Institute of Public Administration

The Indian Institute of Public Administration was established in March 1954 under the presidentship of Shri Jawaharlal Nehru, Prime Minister of India.

The principal objects of the Institute are : to provide for the study of public administration and allied subjects by organising study and training courses, conferences and discussion groups; to undertake research in matters relating to public administration and the machinery of government; to publish periodicals, research papers and books on Indian administration ; and to serve as a forum for exchange of ideas and experiences and a clearing house of information on public administration in general.

The Institute has been recognised as the National Section for India of the International Institute of Administrative Sciences.

A regional branch of the Institute has been established in Bombay. Two more regional branches—one in West Bengal and the other in Bihar—are in the process of formation.

The Institute's membership is open to all persons above 25 years, who are actively interested in or concerned with the study or practice of public administration. The minimum annual subscription for individual membership is Rs. 25. Bona fide post-graduate students below the age of 25 can become 'Associate Members' by paying a membership fee of Rs. 12 per year, but they are not entitled to participate in the management of Institute's affairs.

Any registered business establishment, joint stock company, educational institution, government authority or approved association of public servants can be admitted as Corporate Member on such conditions as may be specified in each case by the Executive Council of the Institute.

The services offered by the Institute to its members include free supply of the Institute's journal and research publications, a reference and lending library, information and advice on administrative problems, and participation in the Institute's activities.
